Nicola Shepherd of the U.K.-based Explorations Company suspects the royal couple has an adventurous streak—and a trip to Chad is just the honeymoon trip to scratch the intrepid itch. “The dreamy, Bedouin-style Camp Nomade in Zakouma National Park is so exclusive and in such high demand, most people have to wait until 2020 to get a reservation,” Shepherd says. What could be more suited for a royal couple?

How about finishing off the trip with a private flight to Madagascar for a stay in the new—and completely over-the-top—Miavana resort?
